CANADA, U.S.A. SEAL PACT TO KEEP HITLER OUT

AGREEMENT TO CREATE a permanent joint Canadian-U.S. defence board was made by these three men, Roosevelt, King and Henry Stimson

CANADA'S PRIME MINISTER says good-by to Lt.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum of U.S. army, after conference

BY AN AGREEMENT with Canada amounting virtually to a defence alliance, President Roosevelt has served notice to aggressor nations that the United States will never permit an invasion of Canada. The agreement was reached last week-end by Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a railroad car at Ogdensburg, N.Y., and inducts the U.S. army and navy high command into a new era of defence planning in which they must think in terms of all North America. The historic meeting between the two heads of Canada and the U.S.A. came at a time when Washington was known to be considering leasing bases in British possessions in the new world for establishment of new U.S. naval and air bases. The King-Roosevelt party drove through a 30-mile area along the border where 100,000 troops of the U.S. army were carrying out the greatest peacetime manoeuvres ever seen on this continent. Then was drafted the history-making statement announcing formation of a joint board to co-ordinate plans for defending North America.

SCREENED BY A HEDGE and ditch, members of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada await the signal from their section leader to advance. Extended training like this has prepared the C.A.S.F. for an important part in the defence of Britain, shoulder to shoulder with the motherland's fighters

NEWFOUNDLANDERS by the hundreds have flocked to the colors and are serving in England today. Here are some of them busy with pick and shovel. They are also active in logging camps in other parts of the country

"OVER THE TOP" go Canadian troops during a mock battle "somewhere in England." Nearly a full year has passed since the war started and these men answered the first call to arms. Since the first units of the C.A.S.F. arrived in England last winter an uninterrupted flow of men and supplies has been safely moving across the ocean from Canada under the wing of the navy

MOCK INVASIONS formed part of the training grind of the Canadian troops in England—here is a group in action with a

Lewis gun "somewhere" in the Old Land. No Empire troops have more readily adapted themselves to new conditions of warfare

CANUCKS HOLD KEY POSITIONS

SIGNAL HONOR was accorded Canadian troops in England when they were allotted defence of certain key positions that, in the event of invasion, would form the "front-line trenches." With one of the Empire's finest soldiers at their head, these deep-tanned Canucks have proved an inspiring sight to folk in the Motherland. "We came to fight and we're going to fight" is their slogan. Naturally the location of the Canadians and their "key positions" is a carefully guarded military secret. The Aldershot days are over, but the rigorous training in every type of warfare, to which they have responded zealously, is a guarantee that wherever the positions may be, their defence will be in good hands. Probably no body of troops has been moved about more than the Canadians—this means they are unequalled in mobility—a vital factor in the "web" defence the British have set up to combat a possible sea-borne invasion.

FAMILIAR SIGHT in the peaceful English countryside, such Canadian units as these are busy manning guns preparing for their job of sharing in British defence

CANUCKS KEYED TO WAR PITCH

DYNAMIC LEADER of Canada's first division is Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., here inspecting Canadians at anti-aircraft defences "somewhere in England"

NOW 52, Maj.-Gen. Pearkes was born in England, came to Canada when 21 and joined the R.C.M.P. A private when he went overseas in 1914, his soldiers think the world of him

Canadian field telegraphist taking a mes sage during a mock invasion that formed part of recent Canadian army exercises

ATTACK NEXT, TROOPS TOLD

"ONCE WE'VE driven the enemy out of the country, we'll attack his own country," is Maj.-Gen. Pearkes' promise to his troops. The leader of the first Canadian division warned that beating the Germans would be a "tough job," and told the Canadians under him to keep fit and hard and "remember their lessons." The commander said the Canucks' duty would be to break up the crust of invading Germans and send them back to the sea until they drowned themselves "as the swine had in the Biblical story." In the meantime, manoeuvres of the Canadians, in conjunction with British troops, are aimed at transforming the units into a strong mechanized force, capable of striking the enemy hard. One vital element, as the defenders realize, in the successful movement of men on a large scale is maintenance of communications—in this element Britain will have a decided advantage.

PROUD MOMENT for these members of the Toronto Scottish now training "somewhere in England" was a visit from the King and Queen. Their majesties are pictured here visiting the regiment and inspecting the manner in which the men conduct manoeuvres

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Only KOTEX

is made in 3 absorbencies, Super and Junior, for different women's needs.

Kotex sanitary napkins are made up of layers of soft, filmy tissue, sheathed in downy cotton, and wrapped in gauze. The only sanitary napkin that is truly "Wondersoft"!

One by one, each layer of tissue in a Kotex sanitary napkin absorbs moisture... then a special "Equalizer" centre guides this moisture evenly throughout the pad. No chance of striking through at one spot. And Kotex filler is actually 5 times more absorbent than cotton.

The especially tapered and pressed ends of Kotex fit snugly... remain invisible even under closely fitting clothes... give you various freedom to go about your normal life free from fear of discomfort or embarrassment.

IF YOU WERE ME YOU'D KNOW THESE THINGS...

You'd know that only Kotex sanitary napkins are scientifically designed, then practically tested to make sure that each feature performs perfectly its allotted task. You'd know that only Kotex has a soft, carefully folded centre (with no more material where you need it... less in the non-effective portions of the pad). So naturally Kotex is less bulky, less apt to chafe than pads made with loose cotton fillers, wadded and wrapped in gauze!

"You scarcely know you're wearing it!"

BRITISH HOLD WHIP IN N. AFRICA

SUEZ CANAL, British life-line to the east, shown above, is admittedly an Italian aim

HIT DUCE HARD IN AERIAL RAIDS

THIS SQUADRON of British planes over the desert in Egypt are among the many pounding at Libya

PREPARING for the invasion of Egypt which they've been threatening and also for the promised attempt to grab the Suez canal, Italy has been heavily struck by the force of the R.A.F., both at home and at her African bases. By now, British bombers and fighters have destroyed well over 200 Italian planes. Italian air and supply bases in Libya, from which the attack into western desert of Egypt is expected to be launched, have been given special attention by the daring British pilots and bombers. If Duce even admits more losses in planes and men than Britain has claimed

CAMEL CORPS bugler sits with the ease of an expert on the back of his proud and haughty mount

MECHANIZED UNITS may be of prime importance in warfare today, but in the African deserts the camel still holds his own. Special breed of camel now being used by the famous Egyptian Camel Corps is fast and silent and can take action where noisy vehicles would be useless. Recruits mostly come from Soudanese and desert tribes—in peace-time their activities were mostly confined to patrolling desert borders in order to keep smuggling controlled. Their war value is noted

THESE BRITISH TROOPS are training in the western desert of Egypt. This hot, barren area is expected to be the scene of the Italian thrust eastwards

OFFICER COMMANDING the British in the Middle East is Lt.-Gen. Sir A. P. Wavell

DESERT TRIBES RALLY TO MEET EGYPT'S ENEMIES

POSSIBILITY THAT the real Axis thrust will be into Northern Africa, not into Britain, is being considered by the English. Italian raids into British Somaliland, they believe, may be a feint to cover an invasion of Egypt. Italians, however, have to battle heat and thirst. Their troops must travel blazing, coverless trails. Here is a Bren gun carrier in the Egyptian desert

FACED WITH the rumblings of the Pan-Arab movement, diplomatic task of both Britain and her enemies is to secure the allegiance of the 40,000,000 Arabs in the Near and Middle East, and at the same time retain their hold on strategic centres. Here is a group of Egyptian sheiks with an emir

STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE of Afghanistan is that it forms a buffer state between British India and Soviet Russia. As in all Moslem countries in the Near and Middle East, German interest in Afghanistan has been notorious, and the country is swarming with spies posing as German, Czech and Polish refugees. Germany has also been active in spreading radio propaganda throughout the country—Berlin is the only European capital to which Kabul is connected by radio-telegraph. Often in its chequered history a mere congerie of petty states, Afghanistan is now a distinct political entity of 10,000,000 people. Often at loggerheads with authorities in British India, Afghan leaders none the less remained neutral in the first world war, in spite of German propaganda. Modern improvements have come slowly in the country, largely due to native religious prejudice and except in the capital city of Kabul educational facilities are few and far between. Islamic law prevails in the country and village priests teach the youth reading, writing and religion through use of the Koran. One secondary school was under French control, another under German control

THIS YOUNG Afghan boy is getting some rudimentary instruction from the Mohammdan mullah in Bamian

REPORTED NAZI COUP against Afghanistan is aimed at dethroning 26-year-old King Mohammed Zahir Shah and installing Sirdar Ahmed Shah Kan, his uncle, as dictator. Nazis have promised political leaders to supply arms and expert army officers to aid the move. The present army is 200,000 strong. Pictured here is the bodyguard of the king at Kabul, capital of Afghanistan

WELL-FED GUNS OF ENGLAND DEFY GERMAN AIR INVADERS

LUCKY—AND RARE—is the Nazi bomber that can get inside the wall of fire that rings Britain's coasts. Bastion of ground defence, anti-aircraft batteries have been more than carrying the load of beating off the invader. Here is an unusual "shot" showing four anti-aircraft guns all blazing away in unison while actually fighting enemy aircraft. P.S.—The enemy was brought down

MOST "WEIGHTY" argument of all for Herr Adolf is a British shell. Here are two workers at a munitions plant "somewhere in England" putting some "arguments" on the scale as one of the processes in the job of testing

GOING DOWN! There's many a little spill at leapfrog. And many a little cut or scratch. But after the cut has been treated properly, a quickly applied Band-Aid will help keep out the dirt. IRON AND STEEL in the making for the weapons of war! Somewhere in England are these giant blast furnaces, heart of England's now vast armament industry. Coke used in the furnaces is made in coke ovens from crushed coal, and coal-blending plant, left of picture above, is used for preparing the correct coal mixture. So far plants are unhurt

BABIES BENEFIT BY NEW FOOD PROCESS

Reports recently released by clinical and laboratory specialists state homogenized fruits and vegetables are digested much faster than strained foods.

This rapid advancement in early solid food feeding is made possible by the new process of homogenization, in which vegetables and fruits are broken up into a fine, smooth, easily-digestible form. This results in more nourishment for babies, with less work for their digestive juices.

To modern mothers who want to know more about this revolutionary new process, LIBBY'S, exclusive producers of homogenized baby foods, are offering free, a 23-page, illustrated booklet entitled "Your Baby's First Vegetables and Fruits." Write for it, to LIBBY'S, Chatham, Ontario.
